I was introduced to Baby Butz when I was expecting my twin boys. As a pharmacist, and mother-to-be, I was searching for a natural diaper rash cream that was safe and effective.

Baby Butz cream contains zinc oxide for skin protection which comparable to other diaper rash creams on the market. However, what I loved about Baby Butz is that it does not contain any perfumes, dyes, or preservatives that are contained in similar products.

I have used Baby Butz nearly every day since my twins arrived home from the hospital, and diaper rashes have never been a concern for us due to the protection provided by Baby Butz. I also apply Baby Butz cream on other skin irritations as well, to provide a safe barrier of skin protection.

As a pharmacist, I recommend Baby Butz cream to my patients as I have first-hand experience of how effective and amazing this product truly is.
